

Sabbath Evening.

Apr. 15. 1894.

My dear Pastor,

Miss Bowman kindly gave me your beautifully touching letter to read this morning, & I feel impelled to write just a few words.

I hardly know how to express either, just what I feel.

My prayers have been ever since you were stricken, that you might be fully restored, if it were possible; - & yet, way down in my heart I have not really expected you would be - because of what I know of such troubles as yours.

I have never known but two persons who have recovered, & they were entirely different in their natures from you. ^{all} They gave up every thing intellectual for a few years, & lived as it does not seem to me possible for you to live. Instead of being born & brought up in New York, they were born & brought up on farms, & when stricken with Paralysis went back to farm life - without any of its care or perplexities.

But "God's ways are not our ways," & I fully believe in "praying without ceasing," & asking for just what we sincerely want. It does not seem to me though, that the Bible assures us, that we shall have direct answers, for any thing except spiritual blessings for ourselves. I feel sure ^{though} that the Dear Father will answer all prayers for spiritual blessings in His own good time. I have waited many-many years for two of my sons, who I suppose are still outside the fold, but I expect every letter may bring the good news. In regard to other requests - I feel sure God will give just what is best, but I cannot keep back the tears oftentimes when the answers do not come as I had desired.

Oh how I should love to see you & dear Mrs. Belden & to hear your voice in prayer once more. I think of you a great deal & wish it was in my power to do some thing for you. If I was near you I could help Mrs. Belden about her sewing, for now that spring has come I miss making the little garments for deeding Madge. Her robes are spotted now. Oh! how I long to see the dear child again. - but "I will wait - till my change come!"

With much love to you & yours - from E. J. Richardson.

Dear Mr. Belden:

Just after posting my letter to you this morning I received the enclosed from
Dear Mrs. Richardson
& I sent in my letter and forward it at once.
With repeated expressions of love and best wishes.

Very truly yours,

Apr. 16th
